

Why Worry About Low Tire Pressure When You Are Running Out Of Gas?

But Won't Bankruptcy Hurt My Credit Score?

<http://www.rodneysscott.com>

I often get asked how filing bankruptcy will affect a person's credit score. Well, of course bankruptcy is going to be a bad mark on your credit report, and it will stay on your record for ten years. But frankly by the time most people come to see me, they are struggling to make ends meet and their financial situation is negatively affecting almost every aspect of their lives, from health to family relationships and even peace of mind.

(Here we could mention the "Loan Shark" article and reference a few things from it)

So if your financial gas tank is on empty, you may not want to worry about your tire pressure (credit score).

Visit our web site at <http://www.rodneysscott.com>

Like us on Facebook